Description

The Akyga® AK-MB-05 gas spring monitor mount is a modern solution that combines functionality with elegance. Its advanced design with a gas arm allows for easy adjustment of the monitor’s position, and with the ability to mount a large screen of up to 32 inches, it offers a wide range of monitor compatibility. In addition, the universal VESA mounting system guarantees compatibility with most modern monitors, making both stability and exceptional comfort for the user.

Universal VESA Mounting System

The AK-MB-05 gas monitor mount is equipped with a universal VESA mounting system, allowing for seamless attachment of monitors with hole spacings of 100x100 mm or 75x75 mm. This system ensures that the mount fits most modern monitors on the market. Mounting directly to the desk ensures robustness and stability, which is crucial for long-term and safe use of the equipment.

Flexibility and Convenience

Thanks to the gas arm, the monitor desk mount offers complete freedom of adjustment. The ability to infinitely adjust the monitor's tilt angle and height allows you to quickly and easily achieve the ideal screen position. The PIVOT function allows you to easily change the monitor's orientation from landscape to portrait, further enhancing versatility and convenience when working.

Style and Build Quality

The gas monitor mount combines modern design with robust construction. Made from high quality materials, it provides durability and stability. The sleek design fits perfectly into any contemporary office space, while the integrated cable management system effectively eliminates clutter and tangled wires, giving the workspace a professional look.
