ROBUST PROTECTION

The Monobloc 92 padlock is a robust padlock with steel casing that can be fitted in hard-to-reach areas.

The Monobloc 92 padlock is a good solution, especially for roller grilles, vending machines and other objects with locking areas that are difficult to access. The lock has a brass body that is additionally encased in steel. This makes it particularly resistant to drilling and pulling of the cylinder. The shackle made of special steel is also robust. This padlock is subject to key retaining: It can only be locked with a key.
