WHY YOU SHOULD BUY THE LENOVO YOGA 5G

Revolutionary 5G connectivity

For the first time ever you'll be able to enjoy 5G connectivity on a PC[1]. Powered by the Snapdragon™ 8cx with an integrated X55 modem, the Yoga 5G enables lightning-fast download speeds of up to 4 Gigabits per second! That's 10 times faster than a 4G data connection[2]. Take full advantage of cloud computing to collaborate and create content with multiple people in real-time. Edit video with split processing between your PC and the cloud while video chatting. Enjoy mobile gaming with low latency and more. Connect, share and stream virtually anywhere.

Power and portability

Forget your charger. The Yoga 5G is built to keep up with you. Enjoy up to a full day of battery life, thanks to thermally efficient computing that uses 60% less power than the previous generation of Qualcomm® platform. With no need for a fan, the sleek Yoga 5G delivers ultra-quiet performance that stays cool and won't weigh you down. At around 1.3 kg, this premium aluminum and soft touch magnesium ultra-portable 2-in-1 is as thin and light as it is flexible.

Powerful productivity and security

Create, edit and multitask with the Yoga 5G's 2.84 GHz Qualcomm® Snapdragon™ 8cx 5G Compute Platform. Offering twice the performance of the previous generation compute platform, it's designed to go head-to-head with competing processors performance but at a fraction of the power consumption. And you can be confident and secure with enterprise-grade security features like Windows Hello and an integrated IR camera that recognizes only you.

Entertainment with no compromise

Featuring a 14" FHD wide-angle touchscreen display with microborders and front-facing speakers optimized with Dolby Atmos®, the Yoga 5G delivers powerful entertainment. 5G connectivity enables true FHD clarity with up to 7 times less browsing latency[2] when streaming on the go – and thanks to efficient processing, you'll enjoy up to 400 nits of brightness without compromising on battery life.
